Foreword

To grow . . . To build . . . To develop are the goals toward which each of us, as students have been aiming. The end of our striving here at Baldwin is but a plateau; it is not the summit.

As we have built with intangibles for the future, so too Baldwin has rebuilt itself physically. Within the framework of this physical building we have encompassed the best of all intangibles . . . memories.

FACULTY

Standing: Edward R. Lawrence, Solicitor; Stanley A. Jarecki, Secretary; Edwin W. Elliot, William B. Cullen. Seated: Andrew W. Kovacs, Edward X. Hallenberg, Richard D. Snouffer, Katherine K. Stone, Clifford M. Sweitzer, President; Fred E. Barron.

To the Class of 1964,

We salute you, members of the Class of 1964, and congratulate you upon having had the foresight to continue in formal education to this point. Probably not one of you took advantage of all the opportunities that were offered since there were so many and the days were so filled with events of every nature. But you have progressed to this milestone. Now what?

A high school diploma is merely a ticket of admission to bigger and better things to come. If you go immediately to the job of earning a living you will want to grow in that job. Seek out the avenues that are open to you for advancement. Chances are that you will need to study something. Do it without delay. You'll never be better able.

For the boys who enter the military service there are rich opportunities for you to increase your knowledge and skill. You hunt them since they may not find you soon enough.

For those who are bound for more schooling be it in nursing, technical school, or college, the opportunities were never so great nor the stakes so high. The effort required is small in terms of a lifetime of advantages.

Whatever your aims, your goals, your dreams, may they be richer because you were a student at Baldwin High School. We believe Baldwin is a better place because you were here. May it ever be thus.

W. ROBERT PAYNTER
Superintendent

Standing: J. Ernest Harrison, Warren D. Shepler. Sitting: Raymond E. Baker, Wilbert C. Brantonies.

It is a pleasant task to have the opportunity to comment to a high school graduate and have it recorded in the yearbook.

Certainly you are to be congratulated for achieving to the point of high school graduation. Your compulsory schooling is terminated, but your education must continue if you are to meet the demands of the times.

Your future opportunities will be many if you seek knowledge, are willing to work hard, and can adjust to change.

Probably the best preparation for today and the future is to know yourself. This calls for personal standards which are high and life goals which are worthy.

Everyday living will cause you to encounter difficulties. The individual who meets adversity head-on usually is the stronger from such experience.

Give of your best to the many tasks which will confront you. The result will be a personal satisfaction that goes with accomplishment and a world which will be better because of your honest and sincere efforts.

I wish you success in all your future endeavors.

Enriching . . . Growing; Growing . . . ACTIVITIES

A basket — a foul; a fall — a pin; a birdie — a bogey; a start — a stumble. First or last, win or lose, they have grown . . . These are activities.

Received for lover! (H12eb)

Kathy, I love you very much. I think you're the most wonderful girl I have ever known, and I think of all the things we've done, and I don't know how I forgot you or us. When we're together we're always good, and I'm sure we'll be that way when I get out. Please, Please, write me to a state where I can be with you. Please, please, please write me and tell me how much you love me. I'll write you as often as I can, and I'll be looking for your letters. Please, please, please write me. I'll be looking for your letters. Please, please, please write me. I'll be looking for your letters. Please, please, please write me.

Kathy,
Best of luck
to a nice girl with a great personality. Have fun always Love, Arlene

Kathy,
We had a real good time in England.
